FRANCE IS LOSING GOOD WILL OF U. S. AT ARMS PARLEY

STUBBORN STAND ON SUBMARINE BLOW TO FRIENDSHIP.

FRICITION GROWS

Paris Sacrificing Moral Backing of America in Economic Issues.

Washington—France is losing the good will of the United States by her stubborn stand on the submarine issue. The most far-reaching result of the French policy of obfuscation at the Washington conference, the disappointment over France's attitude on the limitation of submarines, is so great that the strongest kind of talk is heard in official circles, the effect of which is to draw Great Britain and the United States closer together as never before.

The feeling here is that France is unyielding in her attitude on the building of submarines largely because of the French-British friction which has been developing since the end of the European war. The move of France in asking for more submarines is regarded as purely anti-British and as a means of offsetting what the British claim to be a superior fleet in Europe on the part of the British especially in relation to Near Eastern questions and a growing concern as between England and Germany.

Mr. Nevin was about 70 years old.

Clothing for Sale

Have you some cast-off clothing still in good condition? You can't see one and a great kindness by offering it for sale at a fair price. Many persons would be glad to pay a few dollars for an overcoat that could be used. They can't afford a new one yet they need one.

CARRIER 15 YEARS IS NOW POSTMASTER IN HOME TOWN

GUY E. BRIGHAM
In the appointment of a new postmaster at Janesville the department has recognized good work of many years in a rural mail carrier. The appointment was not made on mere political grounds as a reward for work in campaigns but on the merits of the case solely. Guy E. Brigham was confirmed by the United States senate on December 23. He is a republican in politics, has always lived in Janesville where he was born in 1858. After graduating from the local schools he clerked in Janesville stores and later took a civil examination for a rural carrier. He won appointment and for 15 years, ending last September, has faithfully performed his duties. Mr. Brigham was married in 1907 and is the father of two daughters. George L. Reed, who retired as postmaster to look after his mechanical business, has been a good friend. He raised the postoffice from fourth to third class and retired with friendship of all.

Madison Has Real Speed Turtle; Mile in Three Years

Toronto—A new speed record was established Friday night. A turtle, named "Speedy," made the mile in three years, 11 months and 19 days.

The winner was one of 167 turtles tagged and turned loose by Prof. A. A. Pearson of the University of Wisconsin, who is engaged in an experiment to determine the life span of turtles. The record was confirmed Friday, at the annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, to which the turtle was brought.

MORE THAN YOU GET IN MAGAZINES

When you step to think of the galaxy of men and women who write for the Gazette each week, it is not only the improvement in newspaper making in the last twenty years, but the fact that a few years ago that rural authorship was confined to the magazines, mostly out of the state. There are now a number of men and women who are writing for the Gazette. You get more than you get in magazines.

Saturday this week there is the third installment of the story of the French criminal, who married a woman only to murder her. There are a score of other features in the Gazette. Janesville and Southern Wisconsin are the only papers which offer you a section of the United States. Are you a Gazette reader and subscriber? Time to begin in 1922.

WASHINGTON SEES REGENERATION FOR BUSINESS IN 1922

OPTIMISTIC AS NEW YEAR APPROACHES FOR INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL

DEFLATION ENDS

Each Day Brings Betterment and the Farm Situation Hardest Problem.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Washington—Look for better conditions in 1922 than in the year just closing.
That is what high government officials expect most confidently. They are not foolish enough to predict any boom or sudden burst of prosperity, but every report coming into the White House and into other governmental bureaus here is more encouraging for the coming year than others.

The department of commerce is perhaps the best barometer of the government's attitude on business conditions. The mass of information it has gathered and reports on the whole, as the White House has been informed, that conditions are better all around. There is less unemployment. Much of the unnecessary fears have been allayed and while it was not so stated today, too much gloom, unjustified gloom, has been one of the worst phases of 1921.

Rail Situation Much Improved.

Still another indication of what 1922 should bring in the way of recovery, as the White House sees it, is the railroad situation. The president has kept in very close touch with the rail situation as one of the biggest problems confronting the country. It can be said that reports coming in from the railroads show that, not only is the railroad situation much improved, but still further marked recuperation may be looked for. In a few words, it is believed here that the railroads hit the bottom of their slump the present year. And with the railroads coming back, it is believed their increased buying power will have a good effect on general business.

The money market now is such that the government is out of the woods, so to speak, in its handling of railroad securities. It is certain it can handle the situation which is making the railroads without having to call upon congress for a dollar. Credits have improved sufficiently that the government is able to dispose of the securities to private investors as fast as it needs funds with which to settle rail claims.

Europe Must Take Own Lead.

As to the foreign situation and its influence on American business, the administration is making no forecast. It has held to the view that Europe must take its own lead.

"You'll just get drunk again," $25 and costs or 30 days," said the court. Fitzgerald said he had been drinking "alco-rub."

"Vermeersek Mind Like 8-Year Child"

Henry Vermeersek, awaiting trial in the Rock county circuit court on the charge of first degree murder, has the mind and mental ability of an eight year old child, according to tests made in the cell-room Friday.

The mental tests given to the defendant were those usually given in schools and institutes to children of from seven to eight years of age. Vermeersek failed miserably.

Superintendent Archie Cullen, Rock county farm, and Oscar Rassler, state inspector for the board of control, applied the mental examination. Such questions as to tell the difference between a stone and egg, wood and glass were asked. Vermeersek could not, or would not, repeat sentences or numbers.

Each question was carefully put to the defendant in the murder case to assure that he understood them and in nearly every instance he failed to give a correct answer.

"When asked the difference between wood and glass Vermeersek replied, 'You can burn wood and you cannot burn glass.'"

The test was made with no intention of being presented as evidence for either the state or defense.

There is a lot of cheerful news abroad. Virtually every industry has increased its output. The year of 1922 is a rising and not a setting one.

Unemployment is on the decline. Heavy movement of crops is looking ahead. The year of 1922 is a rising and not a setting one.

The only persons who will not know that 1922 is a good year will be the folks in the cemeteries and the jail population.

LEMBERGER SOBER ON NIGHT CHILD WAS SLAIN, CLAIM

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF DEFENDANT IS GRILLED.

REPLIES EVASIVE

Chairovont Visited After Annie's Death, Relative Says on Stand.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison—Annie Lemberger, who was slain during part of the night of Sept. 2, when Annie Lemberger was killed, and that her father might have left home during that time, was made by Mrs. Selma Berken, Nekoma, made by John A. ("Dopskin") Johnson, serving a life sentence for murder of the girl, at the hearing on charges of second degree murder against Martin Lemberger, father of Annie.

Brs. Berken had previously maintained that her father had been with her in the Johnson home all of the night on which the crime was committed. She said she could not swear that her father had not been down to Lake Monona, where the body later was found at 4 a. m. Sept. 6, because she said, "I wasn't there."

John Lemberger, brother-in-law of Martin Lemberger, on the stand again, contradicted his testimony of Thursday concerning conversations the murder. He declared that he had not understood questions of E. W. Jackman, the prosecutor.

SAYS LEMBERGER SOBER ON NIGHT OF MURDER

(By Associated Press.)
Madison—Martin Lemberger, charged with second degree murder in connection with the death of his seven-year-old daughter, Annie, 10 of the crime was committed and was not engaged in a drinking party at his home as has been alleged, John Lemberger testified at the preliminary hearing of the case Thursday afternoon.

Answers Evasive

Lemberger's brother-in-law, who answered the greater number of questions asked by Ralph W. Jackman, special prosecutor, with an evasive reply, was the principal witness of the afternoon session.

He told of taking Lemberger to a local chairovont in Fair Oaks, Madison, to determine where the child was talked of, brought a reply that he could not remember. He did not recall what Lemberger said, in directly speaking of the girl.

Neighbors Testify

Other testimony was given by neighbors who told various details of the window through which the child is said to have been taken, and of the Lemberger dog, which one witness testified had barked on the night the crime was committed.

Continuous Air Record Broken by Yank Flyer

(By Associated Press.)
Minneapolis, N. D.—The Lark monoplane, piloted by Edward Stinson, broke the world's continuous flying record of 24 hours, 19 minutes and 55 seconds, when he landed at 11 a. m. after having been in the air 25 hours, 19 minutes, 35 seconds.

Stinson, stationed at Kelly field, Tex., during the war as a flight instructor, was a member of the American flying corps and was a pilot in the air force.

Stinson was forced to descend because of a faulty oil connection with which he and his mechanic, Lloyd Bertaud, had battled since 3 a. m. Friday.

Both men, when they descended, were suffering intensely from the bitter cold, for although the plane was equipped with a heater, it did not get into the open cockpit since 4 p. m. Thursday, and his mechanic found little time to seek shelter.

Three fingers of Stinson's right hand and one of his left were frozen. Bertaud's hands were numb.

37 YEARS WITH THE TOBACCO REPORTER, KNAPP'S RECORD

AMERICAN PLAN TO LIMIT AUXILIARY CRAFT ACCEPTED

VIRTUALLY AGREED UPON IN COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS

FRENCH HOLD OUT

HARLOW B. KNAPP
In the death of Harlow B. Knapp, Edgerton lost one of its most highly respected citizens. He had been for 37 years a member of the staff of the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter and recently had been its business manager. In that capacity he came in contact with every interest in Edgerton and vicinity and his acquaintance was with practically every person in the north end of the county. The funeral took place at the Methodist church Friday afternoon at 2:30. Mr. Knapp was a member of the board of aldermen of Edgerton.

ADJUST PRICES OR SEE PANIC-HOWARD

Co-Operative Marketing Machinery, Owned by Farmer, Held Imperative.

"Farmers, N. D.—Farm prices must come up to meet the level of other commodities or other commodities must come down to the level of farm prices within a relatively short time. America will be in the hands of such a panic as she has never dreamed of," J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said Friday before the annual convention of the state federation here.

Mr. Howard declared the hope of American agriculture lay in perfecting co-operative marketing machinery, and that agricultural organizations must drop petty jealousies and work together for the good of the farmer and consuming public.

HOWARD TELLS LA FOLLETTE HIS CHARGES ARE FALSE

St. Paul—Denial of charges that the American Farm Bureau federation was defaming the La Follette record in a secret conference with the La Follette family, was made by James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, in a letter to Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who made the charges early this week.

The letter sent by Mr. Howard, a copy of which was received by the American Farm Bureau federation, declared "no secret conferences have been held nor any working agreements reached, which are not entirely in harmony with adopted resolutions of the American Farm Bureau federation."

Burch Insane, Says Alienist

Los Angeles—Dr. William E. Kern, the fourth state psychologist for the state of California, on trial here charged with the murder of J. Edgar Kennedy, Dr. Kern took the stand when court convened Friday and, after qualifying as an expert in mental diseases, said he had visited Burch 15 or 20 times and believed him to be insane.

Dr. Kern said Burch had a "marked ego," which was fixed, a divinity, and that Burch believed himself to be a great man and consistently refused to pay any attention to the murder charge against him.

Burch, he said, slept a great deal and the witness had once found him asleep in his cell in the middle of the day. "This unusual tendency to sleep indicated an abnormal condition," he said.

The defense announced it probably would call one more alienist after Dr. Kern and would have one or two witnesses on other phases of the case, then turned aside. As the state has announced it has numerous additional witnesses to present, this will not throw much light on the probable closing date of the trial, now nearing its seventh week.

AMERICAN PLAN TO LIMIT AUXILIARY CRAFT ACCEPTED

VIRTUALLY AGREED UPON IN COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS

FRENCH HOLD OUT

Expect Agreement, However; Suspicion Resented by Paris Delegates

(By Associated Press.)
Washington—Albert Sarraut, head of the French arms conference delegation, at the meeting Friday of the conference committee, declared in substance that France was beginning to be reconciled with suspicion by the other powers represented in the Washington meeting and that this could not go on.

GLAD TO DISCUSS STATUS OF SUBMARINE, SAYS PARIS

(By Associated Press.)
Paris—The French government will be glad to discuss the status of submarines with reference to merchant shipping as well as the humanitarian bearing on their use, it was said, in official circles here Friday. Regulation of the use of these craft might be adopted, after the question of tonnage, but the question of the status must come first.

It was pointed out in these quarters with reference to the conference that France, including her colonies has a coastline of 15,000 miles to defend, while the United States, including Alaska, has about 11,000 miles.

Washington—The American proposal for the limitation of auxiliary craft, and the previous proposal of 10,000 ton displacement was understood to have been virtually agreed upon at the morning session Friday of the arms conference naval committee.

All of the powers' delegates accepted the American proposal except the French, who, while holding formal approval in abeyance, said such approval was expected.

Discuss Root Plan

After disposing of the American proposal, the committee of the second Root resolution to prohibit the use of submarines against merchant vessels. A decision was not reached because of the lack of instructions by the French delegation from their government.

Some modifications of the Root resolution were advanced and it was expected they would be referred to the committee of the second Root resolution before disposal.

Members of the American delegation expressed much satisfaction over the virtual acceptance of the plan for the limitation of auxiliary vessels, and said they would work to prevent a certain extent competition in naval construction of the auxiliary craft.

Tank Carrier Limitation

Its importance was said to be enhanced by the fact that the limit of the American proposals to limit the construction of the auxiliary craft.

Think Shooting Was Matter of Self Defense

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Beloit—The condition of Pat Carmody, 30, shot in the abdomen Wednesday night in a card game at South Beloit, is little changed. It was reported Friday noon by officials of the Beloit hospital.

South Beloit police and Winnebago county, Ill., officials seemed to be convinced from the versions of others and the story told by James Calligan, held by Illinois authorities, that the shooting was done only on extreme provocation and after Carmody had attacked Calligan, his best friend, with a knife.

There is a shallow cut of five inches on Calligan's right arm and cheek to support his contention that he fired in self defense after Carmody had attempted to "knife" him.

Calligan is held in the Winnebago county jail at Rock.

NEW CITY CHARTER EFFECTIVE SUNDAY

44 Cities, Including Janesville, Must Change to General Charter Law.

Janesville's 40-year old charter will be thrown into the discard, Sunday, along with the special charters of 44 other Wisconsin cities, chief among which are Eau Claire, given its special charter in 1872; Kenosha, 1857; La Crosse, 1887; Madison, 1880; Oshkosh, 1883; Racine, 1874; Sheboygan, 1887; and Superior, 1891. Janesville's special charter was granted in 1881.

The change is brought about through an act of the last legislature requiring all Wisconsin cities, with the single exception of Milwaukee, to come under the general charter law January 1, 1922. All special privileges granted through individual charters will be rescinded.

General charters have been issued to all but a few of the cities who have not yet complied with all of the requirements presented to the grant. Some difficulty has been found in locating exact boundaries, which must be certified before the new law becomes effective.

Uniformity of elections and many details of city administration is expected to result from application of the general charters. Municipalities will retain practically all of their present powers, and will be permitted to determine the form of their administrative machinery.

Special importance is attached to the section of the general charter which allows cities to enact penal ordinances for suppression of the liquor traffic. This opens the way for local option under general prohibition, and allows municipalities to share in the imposed for violation of the law.

In the past Wisconsin law has permitted municipalities to make the change from special to general charters if they elected to do so. The law enacted by the last legislature makes it compulsory for all cities to be governed under the general charter.

YOU TELL 'EM

Reporters ask a daily question of five persons. Here's what they say:

Chicago.—A great increase in civilian flying in the middle-western and south-western states is reported by a representative of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, who has just completed an extensive tour, several thousand miles of which were traversed by airplane.

Approximately a score of flying meets have been held at various points throughout the United States during the past year, but the larger and more significant of these were in Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana and Texas.

Most of the flying meets were conducted under the patronage or patronage of the various Chambers of Commerce. At these events more than 300 planes were entered, flying approximately 500,000 miles, and carrying, during the various brief exhibition periods, around 5,000 passengers. Over a million people witnessed the tournaments, the largest of which were the American Legion Meet at Kansas City, Mo., and the Pulitzer Trophy Race at Omaha, Neb.

It is estimated by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce that probably one-half of the twelve hundred aircraft believed to be in commercial operation in the United States are to be found in the states of Colorado and Missouri River Valleys, Colorado, Montana, the Dakotas, Oklahoma and Texas.

West B. Big

"The waste is the big immediate field for action," says the opinion of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce representative. "Now transportation is desired. Vast distances, comparatively inadequate highway facilities for motor transport, and the lack of many expressways restricted principally to the main trunk lines, permit exceptional opportunities for convincing demonstration of aerial efficiency. Ranchers, oil men, physicians, business men, and the distributing houses, and an increasing number of big executives who want to save time in travelling and yet feel it necessary to travel to keep in direct contact with their affairs, all employ airplanes in their daily work." The lack of federal regularity law—and the consequent lack of proper terminal facilities, signalling and meteorological services—has been a major handicap but this, too, can be removed by legislation recommended by the president. The fact is that these needs have proven conclusively that the general public is ready to accept the airplane. "It is worth—(to recognize) in a medium of efficient and speedy transport."

Whitewater.—Miss Anna Clark, who came from Chicago last week for the holidays was taken ill the day after her arrival. Her condition is such that she will be spending the week with her mother, Mrs. Emma Millard.—Easter.—John and P. R. Bloodgood attended the concert of the choir at the Wesleyan at Madison Wednesday night. Emily Hamden came from Wausau to spend the holidays at home.—Miss Anna Ryan is visiting at the home of Mrs. E. M. McKee. The city has been engaged as instructor in ferge practice in the university school of engineering at Madison. Mrs. McCutcheon returned this week from an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. Earl Deakin. Mr. and Mrs. Deakin left Tuesday for Palm Beach, Fla. The remainder of the winter—Sunday afternoon at the Congregational church there will be communion, baptism of children and reception of members. Saturday afternoon in the Girls Gym at the Normal building the Whitewater Epworth League basketball team will play the Palmyra team. The girls of the Normal there will be a social time in the church parlors, followed by a watch night service. President Harding may become an enthusiastic rider during his stay in the White House. He had not ridden for years until he took a brief ride while vacationing with Edison, Firestone and Ford last summer. The pleasure of the jaunt remained with him. Lately he has chosen this form of exercise when the time allowed. He rides through Potomac park and the Virginia hills.

One of the most pitiful of all the jobless cases that have come to police attention in some time was seen at the police station Friday.

Charles Newman, 37, was asked for a place to work, stammering so badly that he could scarcely be understood, he told Chief Charles Newman that he had been laid off from his father's 200-acre farm in California until June 14 last when his father told him to leave and work for someone else. He had no other place to go, although he says he has applied at hundreds of farms. The farmer says he have been kind to him and have given him food.

"This is the worst case of stammering I have ever known," said Chief Newman.

Alton was provided with an overcoat and a pair of underwear, shoes, socks, given a dinner and allowed to take a bath. He then went on his way with the advice that he return to his home.

Madison—Reduced gas rates were ordered by the railroad commission Friday for La Crosse, effective Jan. 1. The new schedule of charges is 10 cents per 1000 cubic feet lower than the old rates.

This is the first reduction of its kind allowed for a large gas plant in the state, the commission announces in giving its order for a cut the commission says that the "existing rates" were continued, the company would earn more than a fair return on its investment.

The new charges are $1.85 for the first 5000 cubic feet, $1.70 for the next 5000 cubic feet and $1.60 for all over 10,000 cubic feet. A minimum charge of 81 is made for a three light meter, with a graduated scale. The minimum charges as the lighting increases.

If a hen lays for you she doesn't mean any harm by it.
A girl will never believe a man who tells her he loves her and lets it go at that.

Don't imagine that you have great will power because you have never had occasion to test it.

Some men avoid a disagreeable task by persuading themselves that its accomplishment is an impossibility.

Falling in love doesn't lower an egoist's opinion of himself.

A woman never forgives a man for forgiving her for not forgiving him.
It is frequently easier to be sure you are right than it is to go ahead.

HENRY FAHLETSCH.

of the Methodist church of Atkinson, speaking at the third annual reunion of the Janesville High School alumni at the city hotel Thursday night urged the boys to develop a "stick-to-itiveness" which would lead to their emancipation from the shackles of the slavery of the nation. Only by hard and eternally can one succeed, Mr. Triggs said.

His associates of high school days and several as members of the Phi-Y club were recalled by speakers at the banquet which was attended by more than 60 members and former members, a high percentage of the latter, being from universities and colleges during the Christmas vacation. Prayers were accepted by the pastor. The club was given by Principal George Bassford.

armament of capital ships to 16 inch guns and a virtual agreement to limit their size to 35,000 tons.

At 1:30 a committee of the afternoon session Friday, it was planned to continue the discussion of airplane carriers. Final action on the Root resolutions, it was believed, would go over until the French delegation received its instructions from Paris.

No plenary session of the conference is anticipated before next week, delegates saying it was hoped to complete the naval program before presenting it in a plenary session in the tentative draft of a treaty.

GREAT BRITAIN GIVES ITS FORMAL APPROVAL

Washington—Decision on the American proposal to outlaw venturing the use of submarines against merchant craft was awaited Friday from three of the five powers—France, Italy and Japan—when the naval committee of the arms conference issued discussion of the second Root proposal for a new rule in international law to accomplish that purpose.

Formal approval of this proposal was given by Great Britain Thursday.

day, during its brief consideration, which followed agreement in principle by all the powers to the first article of the Root resolutions restricting the rules of naval warfare and their strict application to submarine operations against merchant craft.

Sets Forth Rules.

As adopted in substance by the naval committee and sent to sub-committee for final drafting, the first Root proposal sets out the rules of visit and search of belligerent craft must observe in operating against commercial vessels and couples with this the declaration that submarines must be governed by the rules. The resolution was to be valued Secretary Hughes declared during its discussion as a reminder to any of the signatory nations, between whom future differences might arise, "that the weapons which they possessed were not, as in the past, to be used without reference to the laws of God and man."

London—Efforts at the Washington conference to curb the use of the submarine as a weapon, and France's claim for a large undersea fleet, continue to be absorbing topics in England.

Friday's newspapers devote several columns to reports of the conference proceedings and criticisms from the American press, and publish lengthy editorials on the developments.

ILLINOIS CITIES FOR CITY MANAGEMENT.

It is encouraging to the friends of better city government to learn that the Municipal League of Illinois is earnestly studying the question of city management. It will also be disconcerting to the enemies of any change that reduces waste and makes extravagance harder for the office holder. It will however be gratifying to the people to know that city management is recognized as the step needed to better municipal conditions anywhere. It was so recognized by the voters of Cleveland with a million population at the last election when city management was adopted. City management is accepted by students of municipal government as the best form yet presented. That a league of cities like the one in Illinois should take the matter up for full investigation and from the most friendly view, is a long step in the direction of establishment of the system. But Illinois unlike Wisconsin is behind in not having a statute providing for the adoption of city management. It is clearly stated in the laws of Wisconsin as to how city management be accomplished and we recommend to the Illinois municipal league, the Wisconsin law.

Under this law a petition from ten per cent of the voters may call an election for the establishment of city management. It is not necessary to abolish the mayor's office. Nor would the board of aldermen be wiped out under the Wisconsin law. The board can be selected at large, reducing the number to seven. The president of the council so selected becomes the mayor of the city. That council also elects the city manager who is the executive business head of the city. He is not the city's functional representative. That power still rests in the mayor. He rides at the head of processions and gives the addresses of welcome as now, and performs such other picturesque duties as the mayorality implies.

But under city management, the kind sought by the Illinois league of cities, the manager is the responsible city head. The citizen will not have to run all over to get action. It will be concentrated in one place. If there is a kick the citizen knows where to place it. If there is a street to be repaired he does not have to run around from Tom to Jack to Harry to Pete—he goes to one man. There are no double plays to confuse. It is a money saver and a time saver. It is business-like and to the point.

These are perhaps some of the reasons why the Illinois mayors and other officials want to establish the system in the cities of that state. They see how splendidly it works elsewhere and how much it has saved the taxpayers and are willing to can the 40-years ago ideas, and get those of 1922.

Janesville goes under the new charter on January 1. The change will not be perceptibly noticed. Those old laws and ordinances preserved since 1831 in the Janesville charter, when in no conflict with the new state law, will be in effect. There will be no added responsibility to the offices of the city. There is provision for a comptroller and it certainly would seem that Janesville should have one. The city clerk with plenty to do outside of the work, is now acting in that capacity but if the city fathers will read the provisions of the new charter they will readily see what an advantage it is to have a comptroller. Under city management the city treasurer is a clerical officer and in some instances a bank is designated as treasurer thus saving a large part of the salary paid for this perfunctory job, made even more so when a city comptroller scrutinizes all bills and vouchers. There are some of the changes that may be made under the new state charter law and many more to the saving of the money of the taxpayer under city management, beside securing a real city manager.

The trouble with us now is that we have a superabundance of city government and no city management.

One of the noticeable things is that one late candidate, James M. Cox, is never called upon to give an opinion on anything.

REVEALS 'SECRETS' OF THE NONPARTISAN LEAGUE.

Indignant denial that the nonpartisan league is to get out of politics is made by the horn of the Wisconsin N-P. photograph, Chester C. Platt. The sole purpose of the organization," burlesque Mr. Platt, "was to secure advantages for the farmer through political action and regardless of party."

"Advantages for the farmer," is a delicate bit of humor although usually Mr. Platt is as serious as a wooden horse. The "advantages for the farmer" have consisted, both in North Dakota and

The Conference as Education

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—That the most important accomplishment of the annual conference has been to afford the American people a free course in international affairs, such as they never had before, is an opinion often heard here as the great meeting draws to a close.

Public interest in the deliberations is now perhaps declining, but at the start it was keen. And never has such a high level of newspaper comment on a great political event been seen in this country.

It is true that every nation poured out its propaganda by the familiar methods, but these partisan statements stood side by side with discussion by experts which reached the very highest level of impartiality. A famous socialist, wrote from his own point of view under his own name, and his writings were printed by many papers with no means altered his views. An economist of international reputation discussed the matter from an economic point of view. College professors, army and navy officers, radicals and conservatives, all have had a hearing.

Doubtless such a symposium of conflicting viewpoints is sometimes confusing; yet never has the intelligent reader had a better opportunity to hear all sides and form his own opinion.

And never before have the motives behind diplomatic moves and pretensions been more clearly unmasked. Compare the meeting to that at Versailles, where self-interest always advanced behind a barrage of platitudes.

In the first place, the common man has seen what public opinion can accomplish. For it was undoubtedly public opinion that created the conference and that deserves credit for whatever it may accomplish. The Borch resolution, providing for such a gathering, at first attracted no attention at all. Neither the American government nor any of the other governments seemed at all interested in it. But the Borch suggestion had a certain popular appeal. It soon became apparent to the administration that there was a general popular demand for such a gathering.

Thus the average man is brought to realize that he is the ultimate arbiter in matters of peace and war. If the common man would not fight and pay taxes, there would be no wars. If the governments could not drum up a war to decide who shall have the oil in Mesopotamia or the trade in Mongolia, then the oil and the trade would be peacefully divided up. Of course, the trouble is that some peoples make more rapid progress than others in getting their capacity for being fooled. A people with something left in them of the medieval war spirit is a menace to the whole world.

None the less in this slow but steady popular revolution against war is the real hope of permanent peace. Doubtless a great world tribunal will also be necessary, but that organization will be an expression of the popular will against war, and until such a will has been developed, no international organization will be any more effective than the league of nations.

To realize the slow growth of this will against war, one must look at the long way back. One must remember that in medieval days, kings made aggressive war deliberately, in accordance with their divine right, and that their subjects cared not to refuse to follow them. Now every war is made with elaborate apologies, and with a thousand pretensions of high moral intent. The real rulers of modern nations are simply the property owners in them, and these property owners make war for profit just as the medieval kings did, but their puppets, the politicians, must provide for them a vast smoke screen of apology and pretense.

In other words, once it was not even necessary to fool the common man. Now it is necessary to fool him, but how painfully easy it is! The question now is to what extent he can get over his amazing capacity for being fooled. Just before we entered the World War the American people were in a most pacific mood. They did not want war. They re-elected a president because he had kept them out of war. The actual declaration of war found the greater part of the country indifferent, apathetic. And yet, within a few months a state of hysteria had been worked up such as war never created in the history of the world. By a dozen new bugaboos, the people were harassed into a state of frenzied belligerence.

It is not meant by this to impugn the motives with which we entered the World War, but simply to recall, in a period of reaction against war, how easily the war spirit is worked up with flags and drums and speeches. Some wars are just wars and some wars are necessary, but the point is that the methods by which wars are made are not in the least dependent upon the merits of the case. Our attack on Spain was fomented, more than by any other cause, by the phrase, "Remember the Maine," but it was never in the least proved that the Spaniards blew up the Maine and there is not the slightest reason to believe that the Spanish government had anything to do with it.

The point is that as long as men retain this primitive responsiveness to war spirit, as long as they respond to speeches, and flags and drums with an hysterical yelling excitement, just as savages respond to the beating of a tom-tom, just so long diplomats, politicians, demagogues generally can make war at will, and as long as they can make war at will, they can do anything.

Wars are made in the same way that P. T. Barnum made his fortune—by taking advantage of the public's enormous capacity for being fooled. Perhaps that capacity is inherent and unchangeable. But as far as war is concerned, another element now enters into the situation. War is no longer thought of so much as a glorious thing. Slowly the connotations of the word are changing. War is coming to mean poverty, hunger, death, poison gas, starving babies, millions of young men dead of their wounds, and millions of women and children in misery. War is coming to mean a check upon the responsiveness of the average man to the war call.

here in Wisconsin, in a post-dated check on which the farmer is later threatened with suit and a fat, well dressed organization of organizers who have a taste for yellow-legged chicken and canned fruits with cream.

In addition to this solemn declaration that the league has no intention of going out of politics another is put forth. "Candidates are not going to be nominated by the committee of the league." After they are named by the primary the stable is to be looked over and the racers selected. But marvelous to state—there comes one prophetic revelation that Governor Blaine and Senator La Follette would be endorsed by the league. This will be a pleasant surprise to those two exhibits, A. and B. of the plain people.

The Lorenz who wrote the piece in the Illinois Staats Zeitung is out of Chicago and it might be well for him to remain away. Emma Goldman has gone to Sweden yet there may still be room for Lorenz in Europe.

Kansas City is to hold a speech institute. It will fail; neither Jimmie Reed nor Bob will be there.

All that Tom Watson has provided so far is hearsay evidence and we had plenty of that before.

Newspaper editors may not be coming into their own but they are getting a large number of the postoffices.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE WAX OF A WIFE

She wasn't hungry, so she said. A salad and a cup of tea.
Was all she felt that she could eat, but it was different with me.
"I'm rather hungry," I replied; "if you don't mind, I think I'll take."
Some oysters to begin with and a good old-fashioned scallion steak.

Now wives are curious in this, to make the statement blunt and straight.
There's nothing tempts their appetites like food upon another's plate.
And when those oysters six appeared she looked at them and said to me,
"Just let me try one, will you, dear? and right away she swallowed three.

On came the steak, and promptly she exclaimed: "Oh my, that looks so good! I think I'd like a bit of it." The game is one I understand.

I cut her off a healthy piece and never whimpered when she said:
"Now just a few potatoes, dear, and also let me share your bread."

She wasn't hungry! She'd refused the food I had been glad to buy.
But on the meal which came for me I know she turned a hungry eye:
She never cares for much to eat, she's dainty in her choice, I'll state.
But she gets ravenous enough to eat what ever's on my plate.

Who's Who Today

DR. ROBERT HAAB.

Dr. Robert Haab, who has been elected president of Switzerland for 1922, was born in 1865 in Wädenswil, canton of Zurich. After acquiring the degree of doctor of law at the University of Zurich, he traveled and continued his studies in various other countries until he finally returned to his native village, where he owned a law office. There the young lawyer was soon chosen to become mayor and in 1898 was elected member of the supreme court of Zurich. Ten years later he exchanged this post for a seat in the Zurich cantonal assembly. Between 1904-1911 he was also a member of the administrative council of the old Swiss East railway of Switzerland and from 1905-1911 he was the representative of the canton of Zurich in the third district council of the Swiss Federal railways. Dr. Haab was elected general director of the Swiss Federal railways in 1918.

A further distinction was bestowed upon Dr. Haab when during the war he was chosen to act as minister extraordinary for Switzerland in Berlin. After the armistice was signed he was elected member of the Swiss federal council in 1918 and is to head the nation during 1922.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Check Your Guns

"Check your guns at the door." The white race is getting its fill of guns. England and the United States, Germany and her broken comrades in arms, are all weary beyond words of "drums and guns and drums." But the gun is a novel toy for the colored brother. To him it is shiny and new and desirable. His spokesman is the fan and the rap seems to be reluctant to check his gun at the door. But he is? Who knows? To know is to solve the whole problem of the conference at Washington.

Bowie knew the red man's mind. "Colonel Carter of Cartersville" knew the black man's heart. But who knows the way of the yellow and the brown man? The brown man has tucked his shirt into his trousers, donned a plug and a badge, and has been elected to the forms of parliamentary government controlled by a despot and softened by assassination. He makes the gestures of civilization and copies its best manners well. But after that? Beneath and beyond what he does and says, he believes that he shall inherit the earth, that only those who receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall enter therein. The brown man is still a trader who loves in having the best of a bargain. He is a merchant, and he is a politician. He is a million small profits. The brown man is an individual. (The white man is a federation. Yet "check your guns at the door" comes out of the conference at Washington as a command from the white man. He demands that the colored man plan to lusty young barbarians who are beginning to realize that power lies in a gun. It remains for the future to prove how much attention the brown man will pay to the command. The black men in Africa and the yellow men in China waiting for the brown man to decide. Of course he will acquiesce, but will he obey?—Wm. Allen White in Judge.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Forty Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1881.—A review of building activities of the year shows many improvements in the down town section. A new wooden mill has been built in Montgomery corner of 5th and 6th streets. Myers has completed the inside of his block, the walls of which were raised last year, and has installed heating in the Opera house. Randall Williams has built a two-story block of six stores costing $10,000 and there have been many others improvements.

Thirty Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1891.—The annual charity ball, for the benefit of the hospital, was held at the Armory last night. The weather was cold and the night was very dark. The ball was a success and the proceeds were $150. The hospital was very busy and the patients were very comfortable.

Twenty Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1901.—The peace outlook between England and the Boers is much brighter. "Barley's The Little Minister" will be seen at the Myers theatre here this evening. The following is a list of the names of the players who will show here January 6. It is said to be the most elaborate production which has ever visited the city.

Ten Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1911.—Marriage license records were broken this year with the issuing of 351 licenses. A review of 1911 shows that it has been one of the most active in building and in city events that has been experienced.

A SPADE IS A SPADE

The belly, no one need blush to know, is that part of the body which is not enclosed by the ribs. It isn't the stomach at all. Nor is it the abdomen. I freely concede it is the belly—one of the few things which folks have that I concede. But let us be sure we know first precisely what we are talking about. The belly is not the abdomen any more than legs are limbs. The abdomen is a cavity, not a sin. It contains things which are always called inwards, in our best periodical literature, that being a facetious and yet delicate way to get around the problem. The front wall of the abdomen is the belly, and there is no other name for it in the English language. Might as well say "limbs" as say "abdominal wall" instead of belly. For there are four abdominal walls, just as there are four limbs, and it certainly is more refined and ladylike to say what you mean than to beat about the bush with an airy natty name, but not what one would call belly fat. I can forgive a man for carrying not to exceed 10 per cent slacker flesh around his middle, as a result of a cocktail, pastime, but not one ounce more, for to my mind no crime is more cowardly than slow suicide. This does not imply that I think other crimes are less cowardly crimes than suicide is. Nor does it imply that I consider more than 10 per cent superfluous weight a crime at all. I say what I mean and I mean what I say. From what I have observed in my experience as a newspaper writer and the counselor and guide of about 17 per cent of the newspaper readers of the country, I have observed that a professor of precise language in some well-endowed university, a well-university chair.

Now there are two places in which belly fat accumulates; one about as high as the chest, in the first place under the waistcoat; and in the second place under the corset; or technically speaking, we have subcostal or subcorset belly fat, and in both cases both in the same family, though not for long, because, as I have intimated, it never prolongs life appreciably this slacker fat.

Horoscope

The stars incline, but do not compel.
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1921.

This is read as an uncertain day by astrologers and the stars are all adverse. Uranus and Neptune are all adverse. It is not a lucky day for business and there should be no important initiative under this planetary government.

Uranus and Neptune are both in aspects conducive to looking backward with regrets, but the mind should be closed to all dependent or discouraging thoughts.

If the signs seem to pressure a period of questioning on the part of the public and severe criticism of congress and other legislative bodies. Congress from today on should be previously and many women will gain attention from the stage platform, the seers predict.

Strongly the beginning of the new era, the planets are going to hold the desire to try the benefits of co-operation which is the exact antithesis of the idea of militarism or conquest.

There is likely to be a renewed activity for get-rich-quick schemes for the coming year.

Bankers have a vision of the stars indicating financial and increased responsibilities.

Education in financial matters will be pushed in homes as well as in institutions of learning, and of the advanced steps made necessary by the times.

There is a forecast that indicates an unwelcome foreign visitor who will cause some sort of disturbance. Uranus from today on aviators and aviation. Unusual perils are prepared for journeys in the clouds.

With the closing days of the year there will be many people who should be contemplated in preparation for 1922.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not speculate. Strict attention to business will assure prosperity.

Children born on this day may be left-hearted and extravagant, but exceedingly gifted. These subjects of Capricorn should be carefully trained in habits of thrift.

Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, when the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them. Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: the fear of the Lord, that is the whole duty of man.—Ecclesiastes 12: 1, 10.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1881.—A review of building activities of the year shows many improvements in the down town section. A new wooden mill has been built in Montgomery corner of 5th and 6th streets. Myers has completed the inside of his block, the walls of which were raised last year, and has installed heating in the Opera house. Randall Williams has built a two-story block of six stores costing $10,000 and there have been many others improvements.

Thirty Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1891.—The annual charity ball, for the benefit of the hospital, was held at the Armory last night. The weather was cold and the night was very dark. The ball was a success and the proceeds were $150. The hospital was very busy and the patients were very comfortable.

Twenty Years Ago

Dec. 30, 1901.—The peace outlook between England and the Boers is much brighter. "Barley's The Little Minister" will be seen at the Myers theatre here this evening. The following is a list of the names of the players who will show here January 6. It is said to be the most elaborate production which has ever visited the city.

GERMAN POTASH CONTRACT AILED

Agreement to Buy 75 pct. of U. S. Needs Causes Tariff Wrangle.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—A copy of a contract entered into by 25 American manufacturers of fertilizer with the potash syndicate of Germany, by which the former bind themselves to purchase 75 per cent of their potash requirements from the latter, was read on Thursday in the record of the tariff hearings of the senate finance committee.

The contract was produced by Z. D. Crenshaw, vice president of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company of Richmond, Va., and in ordering it placed in the record, Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, said he wanted to show to senators that it not only evaded all anti-dumping laws passed by congress but also all American anti-trust laws.

“If that contract can stand,” Senator Smoot declared, “Germany will see that the potash industry in the United States will never be developed.”

It developed that the American firms would get a lower rate per ton if they bought their entire supply from the German syndicate than if they bought only 75 per cent from that source.

Mr. Crenshaw appeared to oppose a five year tariff on potash to protect the potash mining industry in Utah, California, Nebraska and other states, which was started during the war. He said American mines could produce now only one-fourth of the requirements and that the proposed tariff would impose an added cost of $54,000,000 on the farmers to “mature a wartime business.”

Senator Smoot declared that there was an ample supply of potash in the United States to meet all the needs. If congress would protect the industry until it could be fully developed, Mr. Crenshaw charged that when imports were shut out during the war, the domestic producers ran the price up to three or four times the prewar prices.

WASHINGTON SEES RECOVERY IN 1922

The big thing the United States could do was put its own house in order as far as possible. Recovery, however, that the degree of business recovery the coming year may bring forth is coupled with the ability of Europe to get its tangled finances straightened out. To rush over to Europe and take on the job of trying to lead the way out, it was re-asserted today, is not the most helpful way of meeting the situation. President Harding is firmly convinced that Europe, itself, must take the lead. Once Europe has something to offer, this country will see what it can do. That is the president's viewpoint toward the coming economic conference in Europe. In other words, the economic conference is primarily Europe's problem with this country ready to help out when shown how it can on a basis fair to its own interests.

The administration is extremely desirous that the foreign debt refunding bill should be passed so it will be in position to deal with any situation that comes up. While willing to consult congress on any major decision, the administration does not believe congress should tie the president's hands by lifting the period over which the debt might be funded or fixing the rate of interest at a usurious figure that would defeat the whole purpose of adjustment and funding.

A Year of Marked Recuperation
While 1922 and what it has to offer the American people in the way of industrial and business recovery is dependent to a degree upon conditions in Europe, other governmental sources than the White House share in the belief that the year will be one of marked recuperation in this country. The recovery will be faster and more marked if Europe is able to stabilize its finances. But the United States will show recovery in any case.

“The year 1921 was one of deflation, 1922 will be a year of recuperation,” is the prevalent view here in well informed government circles. This prediction is based on the fact that the turn of the road has been reached in virtually every industry. In some it has been more marked than others. The recovery in agriculture has been slightest of all. That is the force holding buying power down now. Predictions for the forthcoming year would be much more optimistic than they are if it were not for a quick recovery on the farm were to be seen. As it is, the farm slump has hit bottom and showing some small evidences of a comeback, while other industries have shown much more comforting degrees of recovery.

There is no reason in sight why there should be a turn backward in 1922. And while the road is definitely upward again, 1922 as it is viewed here, should show considerably better than the twelve months just closing. If Europe shows some recovery, this country will all the more show very marked improvement all around.

That's your Washington forecast for the coming year.

Report Eighth Death in Storm

Fresno, Cal.—The eighth death as a result of the storm which struck California this week, was recorded Friday after three employees of the Southern California Edison company at Big Creek, nearly overcome by exposure and hunger, had staggered into the company headquarters and died. The other three, a yellow fever, John H. Peterson had frozen to death while delivering company documents valued at $40,000 from one camp to another.

Compulsory Arbitration in Industry Is Advocated

New York.—Compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes as a measure of protection for the public, is provided for in a bill sponsored by the New York Board of Trade and Transportation to be submitted to the state legislature. The proposed legislation is intended to forestall unjustifiable strikes and lockouts, it was said, and by its provisions disputes of the supreme court and the state industrial commission would be empowered to handle labor disputes.

In more aggravated situations or in the event of extreme differences between employers and workers, the bill would establish a court of industrial relations. Representatives of organized labor in the state have expressed their opposition to it.
